

Sept-October 2019

There is nothing left to say: we must simply hunker down and wait for this storm to pass.

With 55 years experience Chesham has seen many ups-and-downs in the economic cycle but never a situation such as we now face.

Selling is a difficult decision at the best of times and in an adverse market truly difficult. Time and Tide wait for no man; people will eventually reach a time in life where a sale of their business must be contemplated. When the time to sell arrives it is sensible to speak to an experienced and knowledgeable broker; companies are not sold on a push-button basis; talk to Chesham because you only sell your business once!